In 1849 he was elected Governor of Rhode Island, and again in 1850, and declined a re-election the following year. In 1858 he was elected as a Union Republican to the United States Senate, succeeding Philip Allen, Democrat. He was re-elected in 1864. again in 1870, 1876 and 1882. He was elected President of the Senate pro tempore March 23, 1869, and was re-elected March 10, 1871. Up till this time his health was good. No man in Washington, where he lived, was more popular, and, next to the White House, no home was more eagerly sought than his. He was one of the most entertaining men of the day, and to meet the requirements this reputation forced upon him he lived well.

While in the hight of his fame he was stricken with paralysis, and had it not been for his hardy constitution he would have sunk under the blow. But he recovered. Several years later he was again seized, and two years since. shortly after his election as President pro tem. of the Senate, a third attack occurred, from the effects of which he never recovered. EXTRACTS FROM OFFICIAL REPORTS:

"The mode of operation proposed was to reach a point on the road where they could seles a becomotive and train of cars, and then dash back in the direction of Chattanooga, cutting the telegraph whree and huming the bridge behind them as they advanced, until they reached their own lines."

"The twenty-two captives, when secured, were thrust into the negro jail of Chattanooga. They occupied a single room, half under ground, and but thirteen feet square, so that there was not space enough for them all to lie down together, and a part of them were, in consequence, obliged to sleep sitting and leaning against the walls. The only entrance was through a trap-door in the ceiling, that was raised twice a day to let down their scanty meals, which were lowered in a bucket. They had no other light or ventilation than that which came through two small triple-grated windows. They were covered with swarming vermin, and the heat was so oppressive that they were often obliged to strip themselves entirely of their clotnes to bear it. Add to this, they were all handcuffed, and, with trace-chains secured around their necks by padlocies, were fustened to each other in companies of twos and threes. Their food, which was doled out to them twice a day, consisted of a little, flour wet with water and baked in the form of bread, and spoiled pickled beef. They had no opportunity of procuring supplies from the outside, nor had they any means of doing so,—their pockets having been rifled of their last cent by the Confederate authorities, prominent among whom was a rebel officer wearing the uniform of a major. No part of the money thus basely taken was every

Important Notice TO PENSION CLAIMANTS. TRANSFER OF BUSINESS.

OFFICE OF GEORGE E. LEMON,
WASHINGTON, D. C., July 1, 1834.
The attention of all claimants for pension whose papers were at any time in the hands of the following parties and firm as pension attorneys: N. W. Fitzgerald, N. W. Fitzgerald & Co., S. C. Fitzgerald, and W. T. Fitzgerald, is called to the following order of the Hon.
Secretary of the Interior: DEPARTMENT OF THE INTERIOR, WASHINGTON, June 28, 1884. The Commissioner of Pensions.

SIR: Herewith is transmitted to you a power of attorney from N. W. Fitzgerald, N. W. Fitzgerald & Co. S. C. Fitzgerald, and W. T. Fitzgerald to George E. Lemon, and a letter of withdrawal of said parties and firm as Pension Attorneys, which, under the circumstances and the good standing of George E. Lemon, are approved

You will therefore recognize George E. Lemon at Attorney in all cases heretofore represented by said parties and firm according to the terms of the papers herewith filed with you. H. M. TELLER, Secretary, I shall be glad to hear from all claimants whose papers have been at any time in the hands of the above parties, in order to complete the records of said firms now in my hands, and request that all such correspondence be marked "Docket F," to enable me to easily find the proper case.

A large number of pensioners whose pensions were procured through the firms mentioned may be entitled to a higher rate of pension under new laws.

I request that all names be written legibly, and that name of soldier, rank, company and regiment be plainly stated; also number of claim where known. Unsettled pending claims will receive pro GEORGE E. LEMON. ALL THE RAGE.
